

Carolyn Conlee - Jewelry

Artists Bio

Carolyn "Carley" Conlee's life has been one of movement. Having lived in 17 states, from California to New York, 32 cities and countless houses, she has now found her home in Northern Virginia. Carley began her artistic career working in interior decorating, charcoal drawings and silk painting but for the past 4 years has dedicated herself exclusively to the art of jewelry making. Carley's jewelry line has been carried in such notable boutiques as Tranquility Bay in St. Augustine Florida, The Resort Shoppe at the Ponte

Vedra Inn and Club, and Donna's Jewelry Box in Chicago Ill. Carley believes she grows artistically with every piece she makes but admits that the hardest part of making art is "just letting go of it".

PERSONAL STATEMENT

Besides the bright and shiny baubles of gemstone jewelry, all materials are grist for the mill of the modern jewelry designer. Beads are huge news today with the rising prices of precious metals and they seem to get bigger every day.

Carnelian, garnet and other semi-precious materials woven into designs, which surpass the imagination, are not only beautiful and exquisite to wear but fantastic to offset every outfit.

Today, with Swarovski and Zirchonia as well as many other man-made gemstones, the ordinary girl in the street is able to wear out of this world "Bling" which looks real, is of the most up-to-date design and make them feel fantastic.
