PERSONAL STATEMENT

My earliest memories are filled with looking at art and doodling, going to art galleries and stopping by Art Museums. My work is representational and I am drawn to the human form. But I enjoy painting still life and recently joined the Loudoun Sketch Club where landscape painting has become a new challenge.

Painting is magic. Color joins to form an endless variety of new colors and different strokes with varying amounts of paint give a wide array of direction and mood. I've been painting for 10 years and it never gets old. It is work and one needs to practice but it's most enjoyable. I work mostly in Oils and hope to paint a lot more portraits.
